To Whom it May Concern

Re: Queensland Centre for Gynaecological Cancer (QCGC) and its mission to beat gynaecological cancer

It gives me great pleasure to lend my support to the QCGC Research team for all their work and efforts. It is their mission to conduct the world's best and most relevant research into beating gynaecological cancer.

It is an alarming fact that in Australia, one in 22 women – mothers, wives and daughters – will be diagnosed with a life shattering gynaecological cancer in her lifetime. Tragically some of these women will eventually lose their battle with this disease, however the QCGC is working to improve these odds.

It is clear to me that the QCGC should be supported by the Brisbane, Queensland and Australian communities for their world best research and fundraising activities. The QCGC is focused on patients' immediate and real needs, their research is developed by our gynaecological cancer specialists and it translates immediately into clinical practice to improve outcomes for women with cancer. The QCGC have my ongoing support as they continue their great work.

I encourage you to join with the QCGC Research team in its mission to beat gynaecological cancer by funding its research activities. Thank you for your consideration of QCGC Research's funding request.

Yours sincerely
