IN LOVING MEMORY

For more information about our research visit

The Queensland Centre for Gynaecological Cancer (QCGC) Research's mission is to develop the best standard of care for women and girls experiencing gynaecological cancer. This includes finding causes, earlier detection, prevention and finding better treatment options to improve the quality of life of women and girls affected by gynaecological cancer. Our centre relies on financial support from the community and government to further our research. Every single gift, whatever the size, takes us one step closer to our next research breakthrough.

In Memoriam

Your special gift to QCGC Research today in memory of <insert name> will enable us to continue our work for generations of women to come. It will give new hope to those women affected and their families.

It is a wonderful way to honour the memory of a special person and an everlasting gift that could benefit all women.

*Thank you sincerely
for your thoughts & generosity at this time.*

Professor Andreas Obermair, Director of Research
